

The Compulsory Purchase Association

The CPA is an organisation created to bring together and channel the wealth of expertise in the subject of Compulsory Purchase and Compensation in the UK, to promote this important area of work and to foster a basis for best practice. In doing so it not only provides a sounding board for change in this sphere but makes comment and provides recommendations relating to relevant Law Commission, government department and other Reports and existing /proposed Legislation.

The CPA was created in 2002 from a working party which comprised representatives from The Law Society, the RICS, the RTPI, The Bar Council, IRRV and the CAAV.

Its members are surveyors, solicitors, barristers, planners, accountants and others associated with the delivery or management of compulsory purchase.

The CPA has circa 500 members, mainly based in England and Wales. With the Scottish CPO system being significantly different, and with the Scottish Government promoting reform, this is an opportunity to bring together and involve practitioners in Scotland under its own committee.

What are the CPA's Objectives?

Its motivation is to bring together and channel the wealth of expertise in the subject, to promote CPO and Compensation work, to promote training initiatives and best practice, and make recommendations on proposed legislation. It is a fully independent and self funded organisation. Key aspects of the CPA are;

- It is a multi-disciplinary association of persons interested in compulsory purchase.
- It provides an exchange of views, experience and advice.
- It delivers CPO information to members via e-newsletters and e-mails
- It promotes lectures, seminars, and similar events, on compulsory purchase topics for both members (at preferential rates) and non-members.
- It liaises with Universities to provide assistance on compulsory purchase topics.
- It acts as a reference point and sounding board for Government, the Law Commission and others on compulsory purchase issues and proposals.
- It promotes best practice in all aspects of compulsory purchase.
- It remains independent of all organisations so as to offer balanced and unprejudiced views and advice.

Joining the Compulsory Purchase Association
